Chemical contamination possible

BY ED LEPOMA

Could Hancock County experience chemical contamination similar to the problems being experienced in Pascagoula?

It's quite possible, according to Dick Redditt, owner of the oldest individually licensed pest control business in the area.

"I have no doubt that there are unlicensed people spraying homes and businesses in Hancock County," said Redditt, who has been operating his pest control business from his Hwy. 90 store in Bay St. Louis since 1979.

"If someone offers to spray for household pests and termites at a dirt cheap price, it's usually not a good deal. It's a case of Buyer Beware," said Redditt.

"If you're going to let someone into your home or office to spray for pests and termites, you need some assurance that they're using safe chemicals and applying them in a safe manner," said Redditt.

Redditt advises persons who might be approached, "If you've got any doubts, ask for an identification."

Redditt said he currently employs two fulltime technicians, whom he has trained. He also sends them to yearly seminars sponsored by distributors of pest control products to keep them up to date on proper usage of various pesticides.

"Each technician has a picture I.D. that is issued by the Department of Agriculture's Division of Plant Industry," said Redditt.

Fire safety program

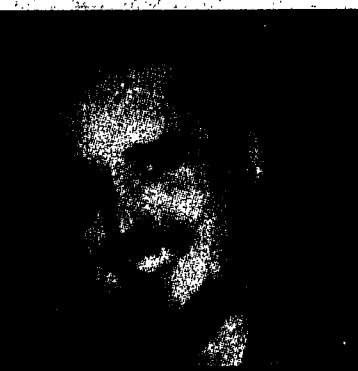

Dupont was recently at St. Clare School in Waveland conducting their home fire safety house program for the kindergarten to third graders. First, the children talk and learn from "Pluggie" the electronic fire plug that talks to the children about fire safety. Then, the children go into the fire safety house, which has a bedroom and kitchen where the children experience first hand what to do if there is smoke and or fire in their home. Dupont uses fake smoke to simulate fire and help the children out through the windows. Dupont travels to elementary schools in Hancock, Harrison and Stone Counties. They also travel in Louisiana and Alabama and make donations of smoke detectors to the schools. All the people are employees of Dupont from various departments and volunteer their time for this program. Right, Joan Olsen helps a student demonstrate how to put out fire on your clothing as "Pluggie" talks to the first graders. Above, Armand Serpas Sr. helps a first grader climb out safely from the smoked filled safety house. (Echo staff photos by Kelly Blanchard)

Bay regulates grass, weed height

BY BETSY GAGNET

The Bay St. Louis City Council has approved an ordinance prohibiting and regulating the open storage of certain items and the height of weeds, grass and plants.

The ordinance passed 3-2 with Council President Jim Rutherford and Councilman Charles Scianna voting against it.

Rutherford said at Monday's workshop he felt there were enough "control ordinances" on the books.

There are two existing laws on city books covering similar offenses, but this ordinance is more streamlined and does not require a threat to health and safety.

City Attorney John Scaife explained this ordinance will be useful as long as service of a summons can be made on the offender.

The law makes it unlawful for premises to be used to openly store abandoned vehicles, household appliances, glass, trash, debris, refuse or similar items.

Further, it prohibits the accumulation of materials which may be used as a harborage for rodents, snakes, termites or other vermin, unless the materials are elevated over 18 inches.

Section 3 of the ordinance prohibits weeds, grass and uncultivated plants to grow higher than 18 inches, although there is an exception for property which is in its "natural condition."

"Natural condition" is defined as being uncultivated and unseeded land, still in a state of nature, but does not apply once the property has been cleared or plowed but not planted or cultivated.

The penalty for violation of the ordinance, which will take effect in thirty days, is a fine up to $1,000 or imprisonment up to 90 days. Each day of the violation continues constitutes a separate offense.

Shooting death 'accidental'

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

The Tuesday evening death of a Shoreline Park resident thus far is being handled as an accidental shooting, Hancock County Detective Kenny Hurt said Wednesday.

First Street resident Ronald E. Brown, 40, was rushed to Hancock Medical Center where he was pronounced dead from a gunshot wound at 8:10 p.m. on Tuesday, Hurt said.

"Our office received a call at 2:23 p.m. Tuesday, reporting a shooting had taken place on First Street in Shoreline Park," Detective Kenny Hurt said.

Puties Tommy Jenkins and Bruce Procopus responded to the call, Hurt said.

Hurt continued, "Our investigation thus far has revealed that James Michael Brown, 41, brother of the victim, who is a Coffee County, Georgia deputy sheriff, had been vacationing with his brother for a week and was preparing to leave the next morning. He removed a .40 caliber handgun from a shelf and was getting it ready to pack when it discharged and the bullet struck his brother in the chest."

The investigation into the shooting death is being handled by Detective Hurt.

In Memoriam

In Loving Memory
TRUMAN A. SCHULTZ

Oh Daddy, you are still missed and loved by me so much. The pain of my loss of you is beyond bearing. The entire force of me is still not strong enough to step through that strong mist of fog that stays with me.

I still wait for the epitome of my life without you. The only peace I feel sometimes is knowing when the fog finally does lift. I know that will be when I'm with you again. I know you are still with me, and I'm trying to master that fear of the unknown. I hope you have the peace you so much deserved. Loving and missing you dearly and always.

Your loving daughter,
 Tina Schultz

Operating room nurses honored at HMC

Operating room nurses at Hancock Medical Center were honored Nov. 11-17 during OR Nurses Week. The Mississippi Sound Chapter of the Association of Operating Room Nurses (AORN), which is comprised of some 100 members in the Gulf Coast area, participated in various activities in conjunction with the celebration.

AORN focuses on educating the public about the activities and contributions of perioperative nurses who provide patient care before, during and after surgery. These nurses explain to patients what they can expect during a surgical procedure and the subsequent recovery period, with a goal of reducing levels of pre-operative stress.

This year's theme was "The Language May Be Different, But the Perioperative Heart Beats the Same," defining the need for universal quality patient care.

The national organization represents more than 47,000 registered nurses who manage, teach and practice perioperative nursing; who are enrolled in nursing education; or who are engaged in perioperative research.

Local chapter president is Regina Williams, OR Nurse Educator at Memorial Hospital at Gulfport. Vice president is Carolyn M. Cross, OR coordinator at Hancock Medical Center. Sandy Rutherford, HMC's OR urology team leader, serves as secretary.

The Mississippi Sound Chapter meets monthly at various locations along the Coast. Educational seminars are sponsored

"CUEVAS" QUOTES

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Good news for the residents of Waveland is the start of curbside recycling throughout the city in an announcement made by the Hancock County Solid Waste District.

Mississippi Resources Inc. is now placing door tags on homes with information about the items they will collect as recyclables.

The District voted to purchase some 1000 bins for the residents of Waveland, and they will be issued free. We just have far too much unnecessarily dumped into our landfills when the materials can be recycled and reused along with other materials.

Residents of Waveland needing more information can call 467-9268.

By the way, we have been noticing fewer and fewer recycling bins out along the Bay St. Louis routes. I hope it is not because some residents are losing interest in this very important community effort.

True, there have been many new residents in the area, and they may not know the procedure.

They too need to call 467-9268 for further information. We need everyone to recycle.

I am so glad to see the Hancock County Solid Waste District moving forward in so many areas of importance for our future.

Congratulations to everyone who participates in recycling.

By recycling and composting organic materials, I have been told, some 75% of our waste can be diverted from landfills.

Today marks the American Cancer Society's Great American Smokeout.

The Smokeout is a one-day campaign to encourage smokers to quit smoking for 24 hours, just to prove that they can do it.

It is reported that for the 1995 Great American Smokeout, some 11 million American smokers quit for one day.

Being a former smoker some 30 years ago, I realize it is hard to quit, but individuals who make up their minds can do so.

When I quit it was "cold turkey," as the saying goes, and really I have been told it is the most effective method.

So, today would be a good day to stop smoking, and who knows, you may be able to kick the habit forever. Good luck!

Visiting the area this week was Digna (De-Ahna) Ray, who reports she still considers Waveland her home, even though she is working in Honolulu, Hawaii.

Digna said it is good for her to return to the area for a few days, as everyone is so nice, and she can't wait to come "back home" on a full-time basis.

Digna said she has lived in many areas across the world, and no place can be compared to the Waveland-Bay area.

She also mentioned how she is impressed with the growth of the area since her last visit almost two years ago.

Digna, like many others, have found the great life this community offers to residents.

The Hancock County Health Council is the sponsor of the Chamber of Commerce's Business After Hours set from 5 to 7 this evening at the City-County Library, Bay St. Louis.

There will be free health screenings, educational displays, refreshments and door prizes.

I hope to see you this evening.

Saturday and Sunday are the big days for the All Breed Cat Show sponsored by the Bayou State Maine Coon Club.

The big event will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Hancock County Civic Center, Longfellow Road, Bay St. Louis.

Admission will be $3 adults and $2 seniors and children.

Proceeds from the All Breed Cat Show will go towards the Waveland Animal Shelter and Hope Haven Children's Center.

Sounds like it will be an interesting two days for cat lovers, and proceeds will be going to two very good causes.

Logtown was a very busy community for many years with lumber being its biggest industry. Pharmacist says medications should be taken properly

Dear Editor:

As a practicing pharmacist at Hancock Medical Center, I have become increasingly disturbed about the number of people who do not take their medications properly. Depending on what reports you read, noncompliance ranges from 30 to 50 percent.

Friends who are not in the pharmaceutical field dismiss my concerns by saying, "Once you feel well, what's the point in continuing to take the medicine?" or "I sometimes miss a dose of medication at night because I wanted to have a drink and didn't think mixing medicine and alcohol was a good idea."

Both of these rationales are flawed. Treatment schedules for different health problems and medications have been tested hundreds, even thousands of times before prescriptions are written for the public.

Completing a medication cycle even when you're feeling well lessens the risk of a relapse and longer recuperative period the second time around.

The second individual is right in that the smartest thing you can do is to avoid mixing medicines and alcohol.

If you have a social event on the horizon while on medication, be sure to ask your doctor, pharmacist or nurse about any possible harmful interactions which might occur from a drink or two.

Here, too, it is important that you take the total number of doses of medication prescribed per day.

Obviously, getting well and/or managing chronic health problems is the primary objective here.

There's also an economic reason for taking medicines according to prescription instructions.

By getting well the first time or managing an ongoing condition, individuals can make a significant impact on the cost of health care.

Sincerely,

Joe Thompson

Hall disagrees with reactions of supervisors

Dear Editor:

I believe all Hancock County residents and small business owners were very pleased to read the front page story in the Sunday, Nov. 20 edition of the Sea Coast Echo entitled "Wellman pumps $11 million into economy; more to come."

The article also listed all local, Coast and state companies that had been awarded contracts. Just this week our Port & Harbor Commission awarded another contract to SCI Inc. of Biloxi for underground utility work at the Wellman site in the amount of $299,400.

As a member of the Port & Harbor Commission, I can attest to the fact that the commission, its staff and the Wellman officials we work with, have made every effort to award contracts to local and state companies and we will continue to do so, because as the article says, there is "more to come."

As we all know by now, Wellman's first phase represents a $400 million investment in Hancock County, which will provide 250 permanent jobs. If market conditions are favorable, two more phases of equal size will be constructed in Hancock County within the next 10 years. The above is the good news!

The bad news was revealed in an article in Wednesday's edition, Nov. 13, of the Sun Herald and the Thursday, Nov. 14 edition of the Sea Coast Echo entitled, "Supervisors scold Wellman" at their scheduled public meeting of Tuesday, Nov. 12.

Philip Moran and one or two other supervisors were upset with Wellman awarding a contract to a Thibodaux, La. firm for site clearing, etc. Wellman, for good reasons, decided to award this contract and pay for it with their own funds in order to expedite the work.

The Thibodaux firm agreed to get approximately 40 percent of the manpower and equipment for the job from Hancock County, and as reported in the Sun Herald on Saturday, Nov.

16, they are already advertising for dump trucks and operators.

Again, Wellman is using their own funds for this project and Mr. Moran has no right to tell them how to spend their funds.

As we all know, an Inducement Package of $5 million from the county and $35 million from the state was provided to Wellman to locate their new plant in Hancock County. My understanding is the $5 million provided by the county will be financed from a TIF (Tax Incremental Financing) Bond.

The debt from this bond will be serviced entirely with revenues generated by "in lieu of property" tax from Wellman. This means that we taxpayers of Hancock County will not have to provide a dime, nor will any monies from the County General Fund be used to retire the debt on these bonds.

I mentioned the above, since Mr. Moran keeps referring to "our money." The inducement package was gladly awarded to Wellman for locating its plant at Port Bienville and in future years will provide many jobs for our children and grandchildren.

Our industrial park at Port Bienville is in competition with every other industrial park along the Coast, in the state and nationally. As has been reported, we expect other companies to follow Wellman to Port Bienville.

Comments made by Mr. Moran and others do not reflect a "friendly attitude." In the future, I would hope that Mr. Moran would not use the board of supervisors' meeting to publicly berate officials of a major company such as Wellman Inc., a company that will invest $400 million to $1 billion in our industrial park over the next 10 years.

Such events could damage our future efforts for economic development in Hancock County.

Casino sites cause concern

Dear Editor:

I was very pleased to read in the Sea Coast Echo that a joint report was issued Oct. 18, 1996, by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, pointing out that the Mississippi's Gaming Law requires that casinos in coastal Mississippi be located in navigable waters.

They also noted that in 1995, a report designated zones likely to be considered unsuitable for casino development. Both the Diamondhead and the Kiln-DeLisle casino projects are in these unsuitable areas.

I cannot understand why our representatives wish to force casino development in areas that are unsuitable. It is sad that we have to battle casino development only on the grounds that it will hurt the environment. Certainly the environment is important.

I wish people were equally important. Diamondhead is a housing development. I bought my home in Diamondhead because it is beautiful here. We have wildlife, it's quiet, it's safe, we have little traffic.

When I moved here, the wetlands were not zoned for this kind of commercial development. I don't want to live across the street from "Casino Row." I am not against casinos. I would not want a Disney World or a shopping mall built across the street from my home either.

The casinos belong in areas that are established for commercial development. Personal financial gain appears to be the only motivation for destroying a wonderful wetland area and housing development.

The federal agencies want comments from the public no later than Nov. 22, 1996. This cruel and senseless destruction of vital natural resources can be stopped.

Please care enough to write to: Gaming Facilities Development in Coastal Mississippi and mail to both: 1) Dist. Engineer, Attn. Regulatory Branch, U.S. Army Engineer District, Mobile, PO Box 2288, Mobile, AL 36628-0001; 2) Regional Administrator, Region 4, Attn. Wetlands, Coastal and Water Quality Grants Branch, Atlanta Federal Center, 100 Alabama St., SW Atlanta, GA 30303-3104.

Seeking veterans of the 4th Infantry Division

Dear Editor:

Our 4th Infantry Division suffered 11,500 combat casualties in World War I. In World War II, it landed on the Normandy beaches on D Day, first American unit in Paris, first unit to enter Germany and held its ground in the Battle of the Bulge.

During the Korean era it was assigned to NATO and stood as a bastion against the massive Communist forces threatening Europe.

In Vietnam it fought in 10 major campaigns from 1966 to 1970. The 4th Infantry Division was awarded the Presidential Unit Citation for its actions in Vietnam.

are trying to contact the men who served in this outstanding unit. They are scattered all over.

We want to let them know about the National 4th Infantry (Ivy) Division Association where they might enjoy the camaraderie and find old buddies they served with.

College costs up; so is federal aid

If you're not up on the latest college costs, chances are they're up on you. According to the College Board, the price for a year at college rose another 5 percent last year. A year at a public university costs $9,649 on average, with the figure twice as much for a private college.

While you may have heard the news about climbing tuition and fees, what you might not know is that money for federal programs designed to help students and families make higher education possible is rising as well. Federal aid programs, including Pell Grants, federal work-study, and low-interest federal education loans, will provide close to $40 billion for college during the current school year.

"The best news for parents and families is that there is money available for college," says Lydia M. Marshall, executive vice president, Sallie Mae, the nation's largest source of funds for higher education.

"Regardless of your financial circumstances, you can qualify for federal financial aid. But it's important to know where to start and how to shop around for the best funding package."

Marshall notes that almost half of all college students today use any of four types of student loans to help finance their college education.

Perkins Loans are low-interest (5%) need-based loans administered by the student's college. For undergraduate students, the maximum Perkins loan amount is $3,000 per year, $5,000 annually for graduate students. The repayment term is up to 10 years.

Stafford Loans are the most popular federal student loans, made to undergraduate and graduate students attending accredited colleges at least half-time. For students who demonstrate need, the federal government pays the interest on the loan while the student is in school and during a six-month grace period thereafter. There are borrowing limits, depending on the student's academic level. The interest rate varies annually (8.25% currently, which is the cap) with a repayment term of up to 10 years.

PLUS Loans are loans taken out by parents (with no adverse credit history) to pay for their child's undergraduate education. PLUS loans can cover the entire cost of the student's education, less other aid received. PLUS loans carry a variable interest rate (currently 8.72, capped at 9%) with repayment as long as 10 years.

Private Loans, as with federally guaranteed loans, are available from banks and other private lenders. Private loans are becoming increasingly popular as education costs rise. Some qualified students can borrow up to the total cost of education, minus other aid they are eligible to receive. Innovative private loan programs, such as Sallie Mae's Signature Education Loan Program, allow students to apply for both their federal loans and private supplemental loans at one time, and then provide convenient combined billing during repayment. The private loan repayment term can be as long as 15 years.

"No matter what kind of loan a family may be looking for—private, Stafford or PLUS—it's good advice to compare lenders," adds Sallie Mae's Marshall. "Many banks offer borrowers an array of discounts that can save them potentially hundreds, even thousands of dollars in education loan costs."

Lenders that partner with Sallie Mae, for example, will reduce the interest rate of Stafford loan borrowers by two percentage points after the first 48 payments are made on time. Following the first 24 on-time payments, the borrower's account will be credited with an amount equal to the three percent loan origination fees, less $250. There is also a one-quarter point reduction if payments are made electronically.

PRCC facelift in last decade

Pearl River Community College has had a total facelift over the past 10 years.

According to PRCC President Ted Alexander, $19,444,279 has been spent by the college on new or renovated construction projects since 1986.

Alexander updated the college's 16-member governing board during its regular October meeting.

The $19 million translates into new construction or renovation to 371,652 square feet of space on the main campus in Poplarville and at the Forrest County Center in Hattiesburg. Alexander said 1,811 parking spaces had been added during the same time period.

And the work is not over. Alexander projects that new construction and renovations through 2001 will total another $17 million and 384,000 square feet of space.

Construction and renovation underway include a $1.6 million fiber optic telecommunications network upgrade, a $600,000 infrastructure upgrade, $3.7 million nursing building and wellness center, a $1.4 million administration building, $175,500 toward construction of new tennis courts, and $16,000 for second floor renovation of Crosby Hall.

In the same meeting, Holmes presented the board a PRCC economic impact analysis report as prepared by Mississippi Institutions of Higher Learning Center for Policy Research and Planning.

The report indicated that the $11.5 million paid in salaries by the college generates a $33 million impact in Poplarville and the surrounding area.

The study said the spinoff from the college's payroll for its 325 employees directly generates $8.7 million in the local community and helps support about 180 service jobs in the area.

Generated retail sales, sales taxes and income taxes equals the remainder of the total.

"The three-to-one impact is significant to our area," said Holmes.

In other action, the PRCC board:

— Authorized a resolution recognizing the late Marion Fortenberry, Jefferson Davis County Superintendent of Education, who was a member of the board. Funeral services were held for Fortenberry two weeks ago.

— Approved the monthly claims docket, construction progress payments, and personnel recommendations.

— Agreed to hold the November board meeting on the Forrest County campus in Hattiesburg.

— Heard reports on the 1996 Homecoming celebration and grant proposals.

— Reviewed the college's new Injection Mold Design and Manufacturing Program on the Forrest County campus. The board learned that the college's new lab for the program was the best equipped in the world.

— Welcomed Dr. Sharon Dungan of Prentiss, who is acting superintendent of education in Jefferson Davis County.

Grand Casino Biloxi will feature two-time Grammy Award winner Dr. John at the Biloxi Grand Theatre Tuesday, Dec. 3. Showtimes are 7 and 9:30 p.m. Tickets are $15/floor and $10/balcony.

New Orleans native Malcolm John Rebennack Jr. (a.k.a. Dr. John) has never been a run-of-the-mill musician. From psychedelic rocker in the 60s; platinum-seller in the 70s; jingle writer, session man and traditionalist in the 80s; to Grammy Award winner in the 90s, Rebennack's music has made him a local favorite and a permanent fixture at Mardi Gras and the New Orleans Jazz Festival.

"Right Place, Wrong Time," "Such a Night," and the Grammy Award-winning "Makin' Whoopee," are some of the hits of the diverse Dr. John. The roots-revisited album "Goin' Back to New Orleans," featured an all-star cast of city legends, including the Neville Brothers, Al Hirt, Pete Fountain, Danny Barker, Red Tyler, Chuck Carbo and members of the various Mardi Gras Native American tribes. This sentimental album won Dr. John his second Grammy Award in 1992. Rebennack's latest album "Afterglow" revives the sound of the Big Band era, but with the Dr. John touch.

THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1996-9A

Carriere named tourism director

BY ED LEPOMA

Beth Carriere, Hancock County's new Tourism Director, will officially assume her duties Dec. 1.

Bill Lady, who serves as president of the Tourism Development Commission, said Carriere was selected for the post.

over a field of 80 applicants. Her salary will be $36,000 a year, and Lady said Carriere brings a wealth of experience to the job.

Carriere, a lifelong resident of the Coast, first joined the Harrison County Tourism Commission in February of 1991, serving as director of convention marketing. She then was named director of marketing and last September became chief administrative officer and convention development director.

The Hancock County Tourism Development Commission was created by a 1996 act of the Legislature, which allowed the county to impose a two percent tax on hotels, motels and bed and breakfast establishments in the county. Its governing body is made up of nine members, four of which are appointed by the supervisors, one by the Chamber of Commerce, and two each from the cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

Lady said the tax is estimated to generate between $120,000 and $150,000 a year, and the bureau hopes to apply to the state for a matching grant.

County Supervisors also contributed $18,000 a year and Casino Magic, $36,000 a year. The monies will be used to promote Hancock County in print and broadcast media and through other avenues Carriere plans to pursue.

Beth Carriere

The People's Bank has donated office space next to the Chamber of Commerce offices on Hwy. 90.

Lady said the bureau hopes to hire one more person within the next six months and may have a staff of four within the next three years.

Bank merger completed

Community State Bank has become the newest addition to Hancock Bank of Louisiana. The announcement was made by A. Hartie Spence, chairman of the board of Hancock Bank of Louisiana.

Community State's four full-service offices opened their doors Friday, expanding Hancock Bank's services into Tangipahoa Parish.

The merger with Community, coupled with Hancock's planned partnership with Southeast National Bank in Hammond, will result in six Hancock offices in Tangipahoa Parish. The Southeast National Bank merger, announced in July, is expected to be completed Jan. 15, 1997.

Spence stated that "Hancock welcomes the Community State Bank customers, employees and shareholders to the Hancock family. This has been a very exciting week at Hancock with the merger with Community State and the recently announced 15% stock dividend."

Tangipahoa customers now benefit from several additional services, including 24-hour account information, full-service mortgage lending, trust and investment services and loan-by-phone. In addition to these six additional office locations, customers have access to full-service banking at any of Hancock's 75 offices in Louisiana and Mississippi.

Terrell A. Adams, senior vice president of Hancock, is enthused over the new relationship and the ability to offer many new services to his current as well as new customers.

"Hancock Bank offers new benefits to the services we've had at Community for years," he said. "Customers have asked for these and now they are available to them at four additional office locations in Tangipahoa Parish."

Hancock first entered Louisiana in 1990 with the acquisition of American Bank and Trust Company in Baton Rouge. Since then, the company has been joined by First State Bank & Trust of East Baton Rouge Parish, Washington Bank and Trust Company, Franklinton, La., and First National Bank of Denham Springs.

With the addition of Community State Bank and the completion of the merger with Southeast National, Hancock Bank of Louisiana will operate six offices in Tangipahoa Parish with total assets of $120 million and a total of 36 banking offices in four Louisiana parishes:

Tangipahoa, East Baton Rouge, Livingston and Washington. Upon consummation of the merger with Southeast, Hancock Bank of Louisiana will have total assets of approximately one billion dollars.

Hancock Bank is a subsidiary of Hancock Holding Company with $2.5 billion in assets. It is the largest financial institution in South Mississippi and is listed by Veribac Inc. as one of the strongest, safest banks in the United States.

Real estate licenses issued

Real estate license examinations were held Nov. 11 in Jackson for those persons desiring to enter the field of real estate sales, rentals and other related real estate activities.

Fifteen individuals applied for the brokers license; 133 individuals applied for the salespersons license. Seventy-one percent of those sitting for the brokers examination successfully completed the requirements and will now become licensed real estate brokers.

Seventy-six percent of those sitting for the salespersons examination successfully completed the requirements and will now be awarded the salespersons license.

The examination consists of 100 questions prepared by the American College Testing Services (ACT) for real estate license law officials across the United States and Canada. Applicants are questioned concerning the Mississippi real estate law and rules and regulations governing their activities in that vocation.

There are approximately 5,347 salespersons, 4,314 brokers and 1,355 real estate companies and corporations licensed by the Mississippi Real Estate Commission.

Commissioner Lenny Sawyer, 5th Congressional District, Gulfport, announces the following have been issued licenses:

Salespersons: David Dashner, Joe W. Fecher, Mary Caroline Garland and Frances Herron, all of Bay St. Louis; and Angele Johns and Shirley Seymour, both of Pass Christian.

Chemical

"On the back of it, is specifically spelled out what products they are licensed to spray in your homes and businesses."

As the licensee, Redditt said he had to have at least four years experience in the business, a degree in Natural Science or Entomology or a combination of both. He also had to pass a rigorous exam and is required to get recertified every three years. He said trucks used by technicians also have to be identified and labeled.

Redditt said persons who suspect an unlicensed technician has solicited them should call their local law enforcement agencies and report them or call the state Agriculture Department's Plant Industry Division office in Starkville at 601/325-3390 to report them.

He said it is difficult, if not impossible, for the state to monitor the situation.

"They have one inspector stationed in Hattiesburg for all of South Mississippi," said Redditt.

Redditt said since he is the licensee for his business, he is ultimately responsible for what his technicians might do. "So, I make sure they get the proper training and keep my fingers on them."

He said federal and state governments have established stiff penalties for exterminators operating without a license.

"There's a penalty for operating without a license and there's penalties for each time a person sprays a certain chemical illegally," said Redditt.

Redditt said he also has to keep a close eye on customers, who come to his office requesting to purchase pesticides for their individual usage.

"Sometimes, I have to tell them they simply can't use that product where they want to use it or in the quantity they want to use it. And, I won't sell it to them," he said.

The crisis in Pascagoula escalated quickly last week after it was learned that two unlicensed exterminators sprayed the deadly formula methyl parathion in more than 300 homes in Jackson County and also sold it in bottles to customers. The pesticide is commonly used to spray cotton crops and breaks down after exposure to sunlight, but used indoors, it can be deadly to children and cause flu-like symptoms to anyone during long-term exposure.

Twenty-five homes and some businesses had to be evacuated in Jackson County, and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency officials are supervising the testing and cleanup. Latest estimates are the crisis might eventually cost U.S. taxpayers more than $50 million, and EPA Superfund money is being used to house evacuees in area motels.

Paul Walls Sr. and Dock Eaman, both of Moss Point, were arrested over the weekend and charged with spraying the insecticide inside homes without a license. Both were released under $5,000 bond each.

Federal and state inspectors have now expanded their search into businesses and homes in Alabama and Louisiana.

The EPA has also opened two hot lines to call if you suspect you have the deadly chemical in your home, and has asked homeowners who are storing it, to turn it over to authorities. The hot line numbers are 769-3160 or 762-5379.

Red Ribbon Christmas parade set by chamber

Plans are being finalized now for the annual Hancock County Red Ribbon Christmas parade to be held Tuesday, Dec. 3.

All units participating in the parade must register before lining up for the parade.

The registration table will be located at the corner of Hwy. 90 and North Beach Blvd. beginning at 4 p.m. Lineup will begin at 5 p.m., and the parade will roll at 6 p.m.

The parade will go down Hwy. 90 to Drinkwater Blvd. where it will disband.

There will be no parking along Hwy. 90 (sides or neutral ground).

Individuals wanting to watch the parade may park on the shoulders of the Frontage Road (leaving the road clear for traffic).

Immediately following the parade, some holiday festivities are planned at the walking track, including the presentation of the Christmas decoration contest awards.

"Make plans now to join in the fun on Tuesday, and be a part of Hancock County's Red Ribbon Christmas Celebration," said Chamber Executive Director Cindy Vernon.

For information on participating, contact the chamber office at 467-9048 by Friday, Nov. 29.

Thanksgiving service

The Ministerial Association of Hancock County will hold the annual Community Thanksgiving Service on Tues., Nov. 26, 7 p.m. at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church, 220 South Beach Blvd., Bay St. Louis.

The role of Rhoda (8-11 years old) will be auditioned Sunday, Dec. 1, 2-4 p.m.

Parents who wish to have their child audition for Rhoda should read the play first. While there is no adult language, there is implied violence — all perpetrated by Rhoda.

The following roles are available for adults:

Female roles: Christine, late 20s; Monica, portly 40 something; Miss Fern, School Marm, 50 something; and Miss Daigle, 40 something.

Male roles: Kenneth, early 30s; Emory, portly 40 something; Leroy, maintenance man, looks more important than age; Tasker, writer, 50 something; Mr. Daigle, late 40s; and Bravo, Rhoda's grandfather, 60s.

Adults interested in auditioning need to call Bob Gault at 643-2046 to schedule an audition between 7-10 p.m. Dec. 1. Gault is suggesting that a resume be brought to the audition, although head shots are not necessary.

All auditions will be video taped. Call-backs will be scheduled for Monday, Dec. 2.

Defeat fire deaths with safety efforts

Winter brings not only the threat of cold weather, but also the risk of fire-related deaths.

Lifesaving solutions lie in proper handling of space heaters and realizing that smoke detectors don't cost — they save.

Mississippi ranks near the top in the number of fire-related deaths in the United States. Heaters are the leading cause of fire deaths in the Southeast. Out of 4,000 deaths annually, heating systems are the third leading cause nationally behind smoking and arson.

Dr. Frances Graham, extension housing specialist at Mississippi State University, said most fire deaths occur after midnight while people are sleeping. Most of those people died from smoke inhalation because they were not awakened by a working smoke detector.

"An operable smoke detector doubles a person's chance of surviving a house fire," Graham said. "The cost of a smoke detector is minimal (around $10), especially when compared to the loss of life and property without early notice of a fire. For about 3 cents a day for a year, lives can be saved."

Graham said most homes need at least two smoke detectors: one near the bedrooms and one near the kitchen. Test detectors at least twice a year and install new batteries annually even if they pass the tests.

Following manufacturer's instructions and using common sense are keys to safety when space heaters are in use.

"Space heaters are basically safe if you follow their written instructions. But, when people become careless with them, the danger of a fire becomes much greater," said Graham.

House fires often occur when people place a space heater too near combustible material. Avoid placing heaters closer than 2 feet to walls. Do not place heaters in the center of the room where knocking them over is more of a risk.

Radiant heaters require more attention than convective heaters. Radiant heaters heat a smaller, specific area compared to convective heaters, which circulate air in one or more rooms.

Graham said heaters that operate on kerosene, gas, propane or butane are most often responsible for causing house fires. She stressed the importance of never adding fuel to a warm heater.

When purchasing a heater, look for the Underwriters Laboratory (UL) seal of approval which indicates the heater meets certain safety standards. Some of those standards may include a safety device that will automatically shut the heater off if it is tipped over. Select heaters that are bottom heavy rather than supported by legs or stands to provide additional balance.

Graham said oxygen depletion sensors, which will stop the fuel-burning heater if the oxygen level in the room drops below that necessary to sustain life, also help prevent human injury.

When purchasing fuel-burning heaters, select those with push button ignitors to eliminate the use of matches. Never leave matches near the heater.

Electrical heaters can cause fires when the voltage capacity of the electrical wall outlet is not adequate to support the heater and an overload occurs.

Never use extension cords with any type of heating device, including irons and hair driers, unless the cords are rated for such heat-producing appliances. Graham said most extension cords are not heavy enough to support the current needed.

She said an advantage of electrical heaters over fuel heaters is that the electrical heaters do not deplete the oxygen in the air or produce poisonous gases such as carbon monoxide. Fuel heaters need good ventilation, which may mean keeping a door or window slightly ajar.

Never use aerosols, gasoline or flammable solvents in the same room where a space heater is operating because they can ignite and cause flash fires, Graham said.

When buying a heater, describe the heating needs to the salesperson. Usually the salesperson will be familiar with the equipment and be able to recommend the most suitable heater for the job.

Volunteers honored at luncheon

The Hancock Medical Center Auxiliary recently honored volunteers for more than 10,000 hours of service during the last year.

At the annual awards luncheon at the Holiday Inn/Waveland, HMC administrator Tom Symonds emphasized the value of the volunteer hours donated by Auxiliary members.

Special recognition was given to two ladies, Edna Kleinpeter and Cora Coe. Kleinpeter's service to HMC totals more than 30 years. Coe is a former hospital employee whose volunteer service dates back to the Hancock General Hospital on Dunbar Avenue.

Volunteers staff the information desks in the front and outpatient lobbies, manage the new gift shop, perform clerical tasks, take blood pressure, help with admissions and in many other areas.

Some volunteers work exclusively with one department, such as surgery, cardiopulmonary, medical records and social work. Some 58 active auxiliary members meet the daily needs of the hospital. In addition, the auxiliary has eight associate members.

The opening of a gift shop in the front lobby this year necessitated scheduling a number of additional volunteers. All proceeds from the gift shop benefit the hospital, through the purchase of equipment and other furnishings the auxiliary chooses to donate.

Ten ladies responded to a call for volunteers during the past year. All completed extensive orientation sessions and are now active members.

They include: Charlotte Mauffray, Joan Lee, Mamie O'Quinn, Margaret Smith, Rita Warren, Marjorie Thomson, Helen Fife-Koehn, Jeanne Comfort, Kathy Speed and Pat Decker. In addition, three ladies returned after a leave of absence. They are Elenora Stansbury, Joan Breeden and Polly Justice.

Receiving recognition were:

50 hours patch- Rose Chrissoverges, Pat Decker, Lorraine Heffron, Joan Lee, Sally Lindsley, Charlotte Mauffray, Mamie O'Quinn, Jo Shannon, Margaret Smith, Kathy Speed, Diane Tolivar and Doris Wilson;

2,000 hours- Shirley Clemons;

2,250 hours- Dottie Corales and Betty Kielty;

2,500 hours- Edna Kleinpeter;

4,500 hours- Theresa Bourgeois.

Since 1986, when the HMC Auxiliary officially began recording service hours, more than 62,271 hours have been donated by generous residents.

Anyone wishing to volunteer, or for more information on the program, may call Theresa Bourgeois at 467-7792 or contact the Auxiliary desk at 467-8746.

Special recognition

Edna Kleinpeter is congratulated by Rev. Charles Johnson, president of the HMC Board of Trustees. Kleinpeter has more than 2,500 hours of volunteer service.

28 THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1996

The Bob Harmon Football Forecast

NFL Forecast for Sunday and Monday Nov. 24-25

*Buffalo, 27—N.Y. Jets, 10
(Sunday) Five weeks ago, the Bills needed six Steve Christie field goals — the last one with only 10 seconds left — to edge the Jets 25-22. Buffalo should rush its way to its fourth straight win over N.Y.

*Cincinnati, 17—Atlanta, 13
The Falcons are gaining lots of yards through the air and the Bengals have one of the weakest pass defenses in the NFL, but nothing has been going Atlanta's way. Cincy won last, in '93, 21-17.

Dallas, 24—N.Y. Giants, 14
Troy Aikman threw three TD's and Emmitt Smith outgained the entire Giants offense with his 94 yards as the Cowboys dominated N.Y. in Week Two, 27-0. Dallas will win this one with solid defense.

Denver, 24—Minnesota, 21
The Vikings defensive line may be outmatched by one of the league's top ground games, but Minnesota receivers should get open often enough against the Broncos secondary to keep this game close.

Detroit, 20—Chicago, 15
When the Lions and Bears met in September, Detroit QB Scott Mitchell threw for 336 yards and four TD's to lead the Lions to a 35-16 win. Detroit hasn't swept the Bears twice in a row since '73.

Green Bay, 35—St. Louis, 12
This may be as big a mismatch as any in the NFC this year. Recently the Packers and Rams have ranked first and last in the conference on both sides of the ball. In '95 St. Lou beat G.B. 17-14.

Houston, 16—Carolina, 14
If Houston fans care enough to show up (which is doubtful), they could see a great game between teams that have more defense than offense and need to keep winning to have a shot at the playoffs.

Jacksonville, 29—Baltimore, 25
Two weeks ago, Jaguars QB Mark Brunell led his team to two TD's in the final five minutes as Jacksonville beat the Ravens 30-27. The score was no fluke, because these are two charged-up offenses.

Kansas City, 26—San Diego, 22
The Chargers' Chris Mims blocked Pete Stoyanovich's 47-yard field goal attempt with 22 seconds left to seal S.D.'s 22-19 win over the Chiefs two months ago. These teams are still evenly matched.

New England, 28—Indianapolis, 21
In their first game last month, the Patriots beat the Colts like a drum, 27-9, breaking Jim Harbaugh's nose and assorted other Indy parts. The Colts are struggling, while N.E. is catching fire.

Oakland, 23—Seattle, 17
The Raiders should be better than the Seahawks with and without the ball, but they've been hard to gauge thus far, looking alternatively inspired and inept. In '95 each beat the other big at home.

Philadelphia, 29—Arizona, 14
Needing every NFC East win they can get, the Eagles will find lots of room to run against the Cardinals D. Philly has beaten Arizona in seven of their last nine games — 31-9 and 21-20 last year.

San Francisco, 27—Washington, 17
Here's a potential playoff matchup, though it won't be the NFC title game because the Redskins aren't as good as their record, especially on defense. S.F. has won five straight from Washington.

Tampa Bay, 14—New Orleans, 9
True, the Buccaneers can't move the ball or score, but they can play pass defense, which will help against the marginally more offensive Saints. N.O. has won the last four games they've played against Tampa.

Pittsburgh, 26—Miami, 20
(Monday) This would've been called a postseason preview a few weeks ago, but the Dolphins may not make it that far. For what it's worth, Miami spanked Pittsburgh at home on a Monday night in '95, 23-10.

College Highlights for Nov. 23, Nov. 28-30 and Dec. 7

We don't want to get ahead of ourselves, but if Ohio State plays the way it should against Michigan this Saturday, this season's Rose Bowl may complicate efforts to determine a single national champion. The Buckeyes certainly don't lack incentive. A year ago in Ann Arbor, Mich., the Wolverines spoiled Ohio State's hopes of a Big Ten title and a trip to Pasadena by handing OSU its only loss, 31-23.

"I don't know if I've ever been so disappointed in my life," Ohio State coach John Cooper said afterward. This time around the Buckeyes will be playing for roses — but perhaps not for the No. 1 ranking. Cooper may be disappointed again.

Neither Alabama nor Auburn has performed consistently at the level of Southeastern Conference power Florida this season, but their annual matchup still has large SEC and Bowl implications — and one heck of an act to follow. Last year in Auburn, the Crimson Tide and Tigers played one of their best games ever, won by Auburn 1-27. QB's Patrick Nix of Auburn and Freddie Kitchens of Alabama combined for 561 yards of passing, but Nix and his teammates had the edge, confusing the Tide's SEC-leading defense with formations it has never seen. This weekend we like Alabama to win for the fifth time in these rivals' last seven meetings.

Next weekend comes the battle we've been anticipating since, oh, Sept. 1 or thereabouts: Florida at Florida State. At home in Gainesville in '95, Gators QB Danny Wuerffel survived six sacks by the Seminoles defense to throw for a phenomenal 443 yards and four TD's as Florida beat FSU for the first time since '91, 35-24. Two weeks ago Wuerffel & Co. got a wake-up call from Vanderbilt, and it was probably just what they needed. They'll make it two in a row against Florida state.

In Lincoln, Neb., next Friday, the Nebraska Huskers shouldn't have much trouble with Colorado in the last and biggest game of the Big 12 season. Last year the Huskers beat the Buffaloes 44-21 without a turnover, penalty or sack, and we expect more of the same. Nebraska will win its fifth in a row over Colorado since they tied in '91.

In two other huge games next week that will affect the standings in the Big East and the Atlantic Coast Conference as well as the Bowl picture, Virginia will have a relatively easy time with Virginia Tech and Syracuse will flex its muscles against Miami. And in two weeks, Army-Navy, a big game for the first time in years! Who ever would have expected it?

Whiplash...A Job For The Doctor of Chiropractic

You've had an accident. Maybe it involved your car and it's banged up. Now what? Well, let's see. Call the insurance company and report the damages; take the car in and get the necessary estimates; see if you can get a loaner; get the job done.

And try not to think about the sore neck... or leg... or knee... or shoulder. The pain will probably go away in a few days. Won't it?

Unfortunately, in the case of a whiplash neck injury, the symptoms may not appear for several days or even weeks following the accident. By then, you may not even associate the stiff neck, persistent headaches, irritability or nausea with the real cause—that bent fender that has long since been repaired.

Many of the cervical disorders we've studied have been the result of auto accidents. Most of these injuries were due to whiplash incurred in rear-end auto collisions. The violent backward snapping, then the forward rolling motion of the head following impact puts a tremendous strain on the neck. Torn muscles, stretched ligaments and spinal damage frequently occur.

Time is not on your side in the case of a whiplash injury. Left untreated, the condition will only worsen, often developing into severe migraine headaches, extreme nervousness, insomnia or arthritis.

The victim of a whiplash neck injury is truly in need of appropriate treatment and care, the type care offered by Chiropractic. As a specialist in the problems of the spine, nerves and muscles, the Doctor of Chiropractic is recognized as well qualified to deal with whiplash injuries. Unfortunately, too many don't know this.

Whiplash...A Job For The Doctor of Chiropractic

You've had an accident. Maybe it involved your car and it's banged up. Now what? Well, let's see. Call the insurance company and report the damages; take the car in and get the necessary estimates; see if you can get a loaner; get the job done.

And try not to think about the sore neck... or leg... or knee... or shoulder. The pain will probably go away in a few days. Won't it?

Unfortunately, in the case of a whiplash neck injury, the symptoms may not appear for several days or even weeks following the accident. By then, you may not even associate the stiff neck, persistent headaches, irritability or nausea with the real cause—that bent fender that has long since been repaired.

Many of the cervical disorders we've studied have been the result of auto accidents. Most of these injuries were due to whiplash incurred in rear-end auto collisions. The violent backward snapping, then the forward rolling motion of the head following impact puts a tremendous strain on the neck. Torn muscles, stretched ligaments and spinal damage frequently occur.

Time is not on your side in the case of a whiplash injury. Left untreated, the condition will only worsen, often developing into severe migraine headaches, extreme nervousness, insomnia or arthritis.

The victim of a whiplash neck injury is truly in need of appropriate treatment and care, the type care offered by Chiropractic. As a specialist in the problems of the spine, nerves and muscles, the Doctor of Chiropractic is recognized as well qualified to deal with whiplash injuries. Unfortunately, too many don't know this.

D'head wins statewide senior tennis competition

The Grand Casino Mississippi State Senior Mixed Doubles Championships were played at Diamondhead Tennis World Nov. 8, 9 and 10. The team from Jackson, captained by Earl Stegall, won the 8.5 Level Round Robin of six teams. Stegall's teammates Maxine Stegall, Jim Elliot, Paula Rhodes, Ken Tolar, Sandra Tolar and Anna Elliot, swept the competition off the courts.

The Diamondhead Tennis World team, captained by Jim Hunt, won the 7.5 Level Round Robin of six teams. Marion Bowman, Larry Elliot, Gail Hunt, Gary Longenecker, Gail McConnon, John McConnon, Betty Miller, Jane Williams, Thurmon Williams and Hunt were the team members who carried the victory, which had to be decided in a tie-breaker for Diamondhead.

At the 6.5 Level Pete Mitchell's team, from Treasure Oak Country Club in Ocean Springs, won the final playoff between two four-team Round Robins. Pete's teammates are Chuck Burkhard, Mike Mavar, Terry Miller, Curtis Atwood, Betsy Hayden, Diane Mitchell, Cynthia St. Amant, Frances Good, Tish Latil and Thelma Miller.

Some 200 tennis players from three regions of Mississippi, Northeastern, Jackson and the Gulf Coast participated in this United States Tennis Association event. Mike Milliken, Diamondhead tennis director, said, "The tournament had a positive economic impact on the Diamondhead business community, and many players commended the community businesses and Tennis World staff."

Lyn Crawford, director of adult recreational tennis for the USTA, Southern Section, Mississippi District, said, "I'm impressed with facilities at Diamondhead and with the job Mike Milliken did getting everything ready for the tournament."

Mixed doubles is the fastest growing segment of the game, according to a report by the Tennis Industry Association. Senior mixed doubles is for players 50 years or older. Call Tennis World at 601-255-5030 if you want "to get in the game."

Hunters may lose 23,000 acres for recreation

If a proposed land deal goes through, hunters and others in south Mississippi may be without 23,000 acres for outdoor recreation, according to the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks.

The University of Mississippi is proposing to sell or lease 23,000 acres with the Red Creek Wildlife Management Area in southern Mississippi to private concerns.

Located in George, Harrison, Jackson and Stone counties, the Red Creek WMA provides a big part of the public hunting opportunities and other recreation to Gulf Coast citizens.

"Our department is opposed to land within this wildlife area being taken away from the sporting public," DWFP Executive Director Dr. Sam Polles of Jackson said.

Fifth District Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks Commissioner Webb Lee of Biloxi and Red Creek WMA Wildlife Supervisor Lt. Chester Diaz of Wiggins are also opposed.

"It is counterproductive for sportsmen, bird-watchers, hikers and campers to be losing this land at this time, in view of the fact that the Legislature has given us $10 million to buy new land for wildlife management areas and recreation," Polles said.

Last year, hunters spent more than 13,000-man days of hunting on the 80,000-acre Red Creek WMA.

Daigle ECHL Player of the Week

The East Coast Hockey League (ECHL) announced that Mississippi Sea Wolves' goaltender Sylvain Daigle has been named the ECHL Player of the Week for the week ending Nov. 17.

Daigle, 20, was undefeated on the week with a 3-0-0 record, 1.00 GAA and .966 save percentage. Among Daigle's wins was a 1-0 shut-out victory over the Tallahassee Tiger Sharks on Saturday, Nov. 16. The game was the eighth 1-0 game in league history and just the second to be decided in the shoot-out.

"(The fans) witnesses a great goaltending duel," Sea Wolves' Head Coach Bruce Boudreau said of the performances of Daigle and Tallahassee's Sonny Mignacca. "You are not going to find better goaltending anywhere. Both of those guys made some saves that had guys shaking their heads."

Daigle, in his first professional season, has been solid in net for the expansion Sea Wolves, appearing in 10 of the team's 14 games to date and posting an 8-1-1 record and 2.38 GAA.

Horse show

Quarter horse owners are invited to enter their horses in the University of Southern Mississippi's annual Fall Quarter Horse Show Nov. 22-24 in Petal.

The American Quarter Horse Association Show — sponsored by USM's Department of Recreational Sports — includes classes, timed events and Halter, English and Western performance events. The show will be held at Ray Simms Arena in Petal.

Timed events will be held Friday, Nov. 22 at 6 p.m., and Sunday, Nov. 24 at 9 a.m. Working cow horse classes are held Saturday evening, Nov. 23, and Halter, English and Western performance events are Nov. 23 and 24.

The show, hosted by USM for more than five years, is free to spectators. The Simms Arena at 749 Old River Road in Petal has a covered arena and stalls on the ground. Awards will be given based on AQHA points earned.

For more information, or to reserve a stall, contact USM's Recreational Sports at 266-5405.

USM 'hitting camp'

Baseball players in elementary through high school may register now for a Dec. 6-8 Southern Miss Baseball "hitting camp" at the University of Southern Mississippi.

The camp, sponsored by USM's Department of Continuing Education, is designed to provide players in grades 1-2 with detailed instruction in batting.

Participants will receive information on nutrition and injury prevention, instruction from an outstanding coaching staff and private lessons from USM assistant coaches throughout the year. The camp also features menus planned by USM dietitians, complete adult supervision and an athletic trainer on duty during activity hours.

Players may choose to attend as a day camper (9 a.m.-5 p.m.) for $160 or as an overnight camper for $190. Overnight campers will be housed at Cabot Lodge in Hattiesburg.

Camp staff include USM's head baseball coach Hill Denison; Corky Palmer, USM's assistant head baseball coach; and USM coaching staff member Scott Dwyer. At USM, Denison has tutored eight All-Americans and 17 All-Metro Conference performers, and he has sent 14 Golden Eagles to the ranks of professional baseball.

For information or to register call (601) 266-4186.
